DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1,2,7,8,9,14-16, and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Futterer(U.S. 4,560,951 of record)

The reference by Futterer discloses a SAW resonator(see figure 2, and summary) which shows a SAWR with two port differential construct. Note the inductors across the two port circuit (L5,L4), the inductors being designed/specified as balanced inductances, also, a tunable SAW resonator with varactors (D2,D1), albeit hyperabrupt types. The inductors are coupled to ground. The method steps being inherent.

The reference does not specifically disclose inductances provided only to offset stray capacitances. With regards this, it is an obvious design criteria that the inductance chosen for a particular frequency of operation, including the intrinsic stray capacitance and varactor diode tuning, albeit hyperabrupt type diodes, and thus all reactances must be considered to allow for the desired frequency of operation for the oscillator. The tuning out of the stray capacitance will be considered in achieving the total capacitive component for determining the balanced inductances required. The varactor diodes have a control voltage and do take part in setting the desired frequency.

Art Unit: 2817

In light of the above it would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to have recognized that the balanced inductances required would have to take into effect the stray capacitances and include these in the total capacitive component to have operation at a particular frequency for the oscillator as desired.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1,2,7,8, and 9 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1,8,15,16,18,19 and 20 of copending Application No. 09/801,411.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because The claims presented in this application(' 452) are merely narrower in scope with regards to a two port SAW resonator circuit for providing low phase noise. The two port resonator is recited as a two port differential mode SAW resonator, ... with at least one inductance... and at least one variable tuning capacitance. The use of a differential type SAW resonator is notoriously well known in the art and allows for balanced design advantages.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3-6, 10-13 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
